About me:

Hello, my name is Matic, and I am currently a student at Vegova Ljubljana computer science & electrical engineering gymnasium. Over the previous four years, I've refined my communication and organizational skills in software and hardware technologies.

Paired with experience in the technology space, I focus on elements that matter and regularly deliver concrete and well-executed solutions. I am working with a team of 70+ colleagues in an open-minded, dynamic work environment. In addition, I oversee a group of five motivated coworkers in the construction and maintenance of an exceptional full-stack experience.

I have shown to be a valuable asset to several multimillion-dollar tech companies, notably in the generation of new customer leads, support, and the formation of long-term commercial connections.

WORK EXPERIENCE

01/05/2022 – CURRENT – Ljubljana, Slovenia

DEVELOPER & SYSTEM ADMINISTRATOR – DIREKTOR S.P.

The "everything under one roof" branding firm DIREKTOR s.p. collaborates with Slovenia's top regional companies. Digital advertising, branding, graphic and video services, website building, copywriting, and other services are just a few of the things they provide. They also have their own independent online stores where they sell a range of goods and services.

I was tasked to provide system administration for their server infrastructure, maintain and manage Shopify/WooCommerce stores and assist in the development of WordPress sites.
